Your health is your key to living well

A medical plan helps keep you or your family healthy. Knowing how your plan pays for services helps you manage your health and your budget.

Your high-deductible health plan (HDHP) with health savings account (HSA) Based Medical Plan is designed to put you in control of your health and health care costs. The plan empowers you to make decisions that affect how, when and where you spend your health care dollars. You decide which doctors you see and how to align your budget and your health care needs.

The plan has an annual deductible, coinsurance and an annual out-of-pocket maximum. Your plan also includes an HSA. The money in this account is tax exempt, belongs to you and can be used to pay or reimburse for certain medical expenses.

To help you get the care you need, your plan gives you access to both in-network and out-of-network medical services.

By visiting an in-network doctor, you can hold down costs for services like:
- Regular office visits
- Urgent and emergency care
- Hospital care
- Mental health
- Prescription medicines

Take your health benefits with you

With Anthem Blue Cross and Blue Shield, you have plenty of in-network choices at home and abroad. Within the United States, you’re covered whether you need care in urban or rural areas. Outside of the United States, you have access to doctors and hospitals in nearly 200 countries and territories around the world through the BlueCard Worldwide® Program.*

Here’s how your HSA works*

1. You pay your annual deductible. A deductible is a set amount you pay each year before your plan starts paying for covered services. Your employer contributes money in your name to help pay your annual deductible. You always have the choice to put money into your HSA. You may also use these funds to help satisfy your annual deductible, but you don’t have to. You can choose to pay out of pocket and save these funds. And, if you don’t use all of the money in your HSA, your money will roll over to the next year.

2. After you meet your annual deductible, you and your plan share the cost of covered services. This is called coinsurance. You pay a percentage of the cost when you get care. Your plan covers the rest. Your share of the cost is 20% and the plan pays 80% for in-network services. For example, if you have a $100 procedure, you would pay $20. If you have enough funds in your HSA, you can choose to use those funds to pay your coinsurance amount.

3. The plan pays all medical costs when you reach your out-of-pocket limit for in-network services. You’re protected by your plan’s out-of-pocket limit — that’s the most you’ll pay for covered health services each plan year. You will not pay more than Single $6,550/Family $13,100 for the care you get each benefit plan year, as long as you visit in-network providers.

* Your plan may have higher costs if you choose services that are out of network.

Stay in the network and save money

In-network providers are doctors, hospitals, facilities and other health care providers that participate in the network. That means they have contracted with us and will accept payment in full for specific covered services.

* If there are no dollars left in your HSA, you pay for the covered expenses until your deductible is met. Then you and your plan share the costs.
What you need to know when you choose an HSA

Your HDHP with HSA combines traditional health coverage with an account that is funded by pretax contributions from you and your employer. You can use this money to pay for current and future health care costs.

Advantages of your HSA:

- If you enroll in 2016 in the Ram Plan-HDHP, CSU will contribute $500 into your HSA account.
- You put money in your HSA with pretax contributions from your paycheck or post-tax contributions.
- Preventive care is covered at 100% in network.
- You have the freedom to get health care from both in-network and out-of-network providers.*
- You can use your HSA for you and your spouse and all dependents you claim on your tax return.
- You get to keep the money you put in your HSA, even if you change plans or leave the company.
- Any unused funds roll over each year to help pay for future health expenses.

* Using out-of-network providers can be more costly than using in-network providers.

Remember!

The money that gets deducted from your paycheck is your premium. It’s separate from what you pay when you get care and from what you contribute/deposit in your HSA.

Health plans find a balance between what you pay to be a member and what you pay if you need health care. If you choose a plan with a lower premium, you may need to pay more when you get care. A plan with a higher premium often means your share of the cost is lower when you get care.
